

Garden Design Tour

Programme

Sunday 19 April 9am to 4pm

516 Atawhai Drive, Nelson – Ray Barley Landscapes

Ray's Bachelor Pad! Interesting use of stone walls and plantings to maximise privacy and views in an urban setting which may resonate with the challenges many urban dwellers experience in their own sections. (Parking on Atawhai Drive beyond property, please take care on this busy highway).

7 Di Pierri Way, Nelson – James Wheatley Landform Landscape Services

Leon's garden will stretch your perceptions of what can be achieved in a small urban space. The inspired use of layered planting has created a lush oasis that might be expected in the tropical climates of our northern cousins, rather than 5 minutes from downtown Nelson (Parking on Collingwood Street).

C & F Legal, 211 Bridge Street, Nelson- Matt Sangster Landscaping

A low maintenance entertainment space in a commercial setting. Bespoke sculptures and a feature pond add a sense of uniqueness to a space that would be equally comfortable in a residential setting. (Parking on Bridge Street)

44 Tosswill Road, Nelson – Angelus Landscapes Limited

A modern take on a quintessential kiwi garden where the emphasis is on production. Vegetable gardens and fruit trees on an enviable scale, not to mention the birds and the bees that share the space.

(Parking on Tosswill Road, either to the north or the south or on Chamberlain Street and walk back. The property is on a corner with yellow lines in both directions, please take care)

Tasman Medical Centre, 355 Lower Queen Street- Rory Langbridge Landscape Architects

A restful oasis amidst a high traffic commercial environment. The varied plant foliage and layered plantings create all year interest with minimal maintenance requirements. Take the time to appreciate the understated features, many of which would be equally as successful in a residential space. (Parking on site)

The Vanilla Bean Cafe is lucky enough to be set amongst the gardens designed by Rory Langbridge. Lisa and the team have kindly agreed to open for the day to nourish famished tour patrons. A full menu will be available and we hope that you will support their opening especially for us.

245 Westdale Road, Appleby – Edwards Landscapes & Builder

No need to limit yourself to a lap pool on this spacious rural subdivision. Beyond the gabion entrance you will find a family home and business site where everything is done on a large scale. Impressive hard landscaping leads from the house to the alfresco dining area – and then there is that pool! (Parking on site, where indicated down the driveway and to the right) You will be able to linger and take in all the features of this property as Scott and Jo Edwards are kindly providing our Devonshire Tea venue, which will be served by the Nelson College International Future Problem Solving teams who are the benefactors of this fundraising event. Thank you for your support. (Gluten free option available on request) (Toilets available)
